

THE WORK OF A LIFETIME – Call Your Mother

Lyrics & Music: Susan Colin

Call your mother, yeah
Call your mother, huh
Speed dial on your phone
The place to call home
Call your mom, call your mother, yeah

Updated information provides parental elation
Unconditional affection gives a positive reaction
Never one to lecture, this may only be conjecture
I haven't heard from you and I wonder what's going on

Don't want to sound pathetic
Or make you apologetic
It's a simple solution, like a New Year's resolution

We were buddies every day living life our special way
I'm still interested to know who you're with and where you go
Some bonds you never outgrow

Don't think that I am stalking
But I miss the days of constant talking
Your biggest fan
Audience of one, that's me

Call your mother, texting's easier, yeah I know
But I want to hear your voice, call your mother
Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
How are you? What's new?
Love you!